

Meet Mel!

Hello! I am Mel, a content creator, and blogger who is passionate about traveling the globe, as well as, unique stays and experiences.

Like most people, I currently work full time. That has taught me to be creative with my vacations in order to travel and explore more. I promote weekend trips and 1-2 week abroad destinations all while staying in unique places.

The goal of Mel's Scene is to teach and encourage people in similar situations that it is possible to travel and enjoy life while working full time.
